Farm Bureau Activities
Weed Eradication.
Poultry Clubs.
Cow Testing.
Fruit Thinning.

The executives of the San Bernardino County Farm Bureau are very active these days and have many projects outlined and are conducting active campaigns for the improvement of farming methods over the country.

Mill Center fired the first gun Thursday in the eradication of Russian Thistles and Puncture Weed. Through this drive the members of Mill Center expect to clear the district of the pests. The following men are in charge of the drive: Joe Prendergast, Peter Held, F. L. Purvis, and Henry Lawrence.

Horticultural Commissioner Coy has assured the Farm Bureau of his hearty cooperation of his department in the good work of weed eradication.

M. A. Kipf, Executive Secretary of the Farm Bureau, appeals to the various experts to take up this work and get in touch with him to work out details of the drive and co-operate with other centers throughout the county in order that the county may be rid of the pests.

Poultry Club Work
Through the Agricultural Extension Service, W. F. Newton, Poultry Extension Specialist from the College of Agriculture, Berkeley, demonstrations are being held before the various newly organized poultry clubs of the county. Accompanied by Assistant Farm Advisor Campbell, Mr. Newton will go to Grand Terrace today (Thursday).

Mr. Newton will hold a cutting demonstration in Redlands June 14 at two o'clock on the Taylor Ranch east of the University of Redlands. On the evening of the same day, Mr. Newton will speak to a meeting to be held in the Base Line School of members of the San Bernardino Poultry Club. H. A. Houser, of the Pontona Farms, poultry division, will address the meeting on "Incubation and Feeding." The meetings are arranged by the extension service in co-operation with the Poultry Clubs.

A busy day is outlined for the 15th. A cutting demonstration will be held at 3 o'clock at the Fleetwood-Land Poultry Ranch, in Ontario. Between the hours of 5 and 3 there will be a social hour on the grounds of the Chaffey High School and one of the features of the hour will be a radio concert arranged by students of the High School. They will receive from Los Angeles.

After the entertainment will follow a basket picnic on the campus. At 7:30 o'clock in the Junior College, Mr. Newton will address the meeting on "Culling and Breeding." Mr. Hauser will also speak on "Feeding and Incubation," and bringing out the importance of proper feeding in order to maintain fertility.

At 10 o'clock, June 16, Mr. Newton will hold a culling demonstration on the Sterling Ranch, Sterling Avenue, which is for the benefit of the members of the San Bernardino Poultry Club. At two o'clock a similar demonstration will be held on the ranch of Mrs. W. T. Butterworth.

Mr. Campbell, Assistant Farm Advisor, who has arranged these meetings, urges that all who are interested in poultry arrange to attend.

W. R. Schoonover, State Citrus Specialist from Berkeley, accompanied by Farm Advisor Wilder, made a trip of inspection of orange groves in the Ontario section Thursday.

Cow Testing Association Membership

The welfare of the dairymen of the county is now uppermost in the mind of M. A. Kipf, executive secretary of the Farm Bureau. From now on he will be busily engaged in a drive to increase the membership of the County Cow Testing Association. This drive is undertaken with a view of bettering the dairy herds of the county by weeding out the boarders in the dairies.

At the present time there is but 300 head of cows in the association and it is the aim of the drive to increase the membership to 1000 in order that a competent cow tester may be employed during the whole year. The cow census of the county shows that there are 4000 dairy cows and it is felt there should be at least 1500 of these in the association.

There are many good reasons for dairymen of the county to join the association. Mr. Kipf states that it is merely a matter of business efficiency and is appealing to the dairymen on the dollar and cents basis.

The idea of the association is to make monthly tests of cows and obtain a yearly record in order that the boarders may be weeded out. In this way the dairyman can make an intelligent selection of his best cows and save his heifer calves from these cows and in that way build for better production and thus increase his profits.

As an example, Mr. Kipf cited the case of a cow that is giving 400 pounds of butterfat a year. Figuring butterfat at 20 cents a pound, this cow will give a return of $800 a year. The return from a 300-pound cow will be $600 a year and the 200-pound cow will put the dairyman in the red $400. The average of the three substituting cows of the herd is found by adding total profits of the 400 and 300-pound cows and subtracting the loss of $400, which leaves a net return for the three cows of $1100. If all three cows were 400-pound cows the total net return would be $3600, and these figures show a potential loss of $1900.

This is what cow testing does for the dairymen by showing him his losses and where to find the greater profits. Thus every dairymen can weed out his poor stock and build up a highly productive herd by breeding his best-grade cows to thoroughbred bulls, and saving the best heifer calves to replace the older cows. This is not the only benefit, as when the dairymen goes into the open market to buy stock, the member of the association can show the yearly records of the cattle that he has for market and the buyer can choose intelligently. Otherwise he is taking chances. These records also mean

C. D. DU'VALL NEW SECRETARY C.O.F.C.

The regular business meeting of the Upland Chamber of Commerce met last Tuesday, when several important matters were taken up.

Clyde DuVall was elected secretary vice R. B. Wallace, who resigned on account of leaving this district. Improvements on the Upland Campground will be started next week by the Chamber of Commerce, and it is expected that when finished the auto grounds will be very attractive.

A banner has been purchased to be given to some lucky winner in the Children's Exposition and prizes were also planned.

Through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce the lot west of Danner's Bakery on Ninth street will be cleaned for the benefit of those playing out-door games. The lot is in a good location and when cleaned of weeds, and a few seats placed there, it will prove a comfortable spot for those playing horseshoes, and other kindred games.

A report was made to the effect that efforts are still being made to get the unsightly telephone, and light poles removed from the business section, but that no definite action had been taken. However, those working on the affair are confident that in due course the poles will be taken away, and the wires laid underground.

BEAUMONT TO HOLD CHERRY FESTIVAL

Cherries, beautiful luscious ripe red, yellow and black are adorning the trees in the cherry groves at Beaumont, but not for long. Everyone that loves cherries is visiting the district, and bringing away boxes, baskets, and bags.

On Thursday June 15th, the town of Beaumont will be busy celebrating "Cherry Day Festival" and a cordial invitation is extended to everyone within motoring distance to come and help celebrate, and eat cherries.

Beaumont is located at the summit of San Geronimo Pass about forty miles from Upland, and is on the ocean to ocean highway.

Cherry orchards in fruit are one of the most lovely sights and no one should miss visiting Beaumont during the next week or so, and particularly on Thursday, June 15th.

Demonstrating Greater Profits for the Fruit Grower

It is claimed by fruit experts that the fruit growers of this section are losing thousands of dollars every year by marketing inferior peaches. In the northern part of the state where great quantities of peaches are grown for canning, the growers are practicing drastic thinning and as a result the fruit they send to the canneries is grading better than 70 per cent of the higher grades and receiving the better price. While this applies to the northern part of the state, Southern California comes limping along with only 20 per cent in the higher grades. This situation is said to be due largely to the inattention of the growers to drastic thinning of their peaches.

The growers are advised to commence their thinning operations shortly after the June drop. The object is to remove all poorly shaped, diseased, wormy and inferior fruit. It is also said to be advisable to pick all clusters to one specimen, then thin until peaches are from six to eight inches apart.

Among the many reasons for thinning are: Improvement in color, uniformity of size and color, breaking of branches reduced, sale percentage increased, vitality of trees conserved and lessens the danger of alternate year bearing.

The camera pay only half for number two grade what they will pay for the 2 1/2 size and over.

This means that it is up to the peach grower to exercise the greatest care in the management of his trees that they may produce a greater percentage of Grade A fruit. This must be done if Southern California is to loom large in the canning industry of the country this year.

That there is interest in the matter is evidenced by the fact that during the peach thinning demonstration held recently in Ontario, over 250 people attended. This was the first and the largest demonstration held. Others will be held and growers are urged to attend.

DAILY VACATIONAL BIBLE SCHOOL
BEGINS JUNE 19

A community Daily Vocational Bible School is to be held again this summer, beginning with the 19th of June. Last summer's first session was a pleasing success. Greater plans and expectations are had for this year.

Mrs. Edith Troeller will be the Principal. It will be held in Crowell's Hall and in the Presbyterian Church. The daily sessions will begin at 9 a. m. five days a week and will close a little before noon. The school will continue just four weeks, closing July 14.

The purpose of the school is religious education, to teach the children the Bible, the truths of Christian life, and the principles of Christian conduct. The more serious work of memorizing the Scriptures and Hymns will be enhanced with interesting craft work and periods of recreation. The instruction will be adapted to the age. Miss Gladys Riley will have charge of the junior department, Miss Harriet Riley of the primary department and Miss Louise Thomas of the Kindergarten age.

Every American child has an inalienable right to a knowledge of the Bible and to a training in the Christian religion. The Public School cannot teach this. The Home does not. The Sunday School has done a remarkable work but with its necessary limitations it can never fill the need. Of the 20,500,000 children in the United States from 6 to 12 years of age but 3,500,000 are in Sunday Schools. Two-thirds of all American children receive no religious instruction.

The perpetuity of a Christian civilization depends on the ideals of the Christian religion being given to the growing children. The parents of this community are earnestly requested to interest their children in this community effort at meeting the needs of our country and times, and in permitting the children to attend as regularly as possible.

The school will begin one week from this Monday and will continue but four weeks. There will not be any charge for admission or attendance.

COLONIAL TOSTAGE JACKIE COOGAN

Jackie Coogan, the sweetest, most human appealing actor on the screen today will be at The Colonial Theater next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, in his latest picture "Trouble."

While there is a lot of trouble there is plenty of happiness and good wholesome fun with an overflowing measure of laughter. Jackie is found in a barrel with the biggest policeman on the beat, and "Queenie" Jackie's dog is the cause of it all. The two had escaped from an orphanage where the rod was the rule, and Jackie's trouble begins right there, he is returned to the institution, and later adopted by a bad tempered plumber.

Jackie trails his way through all the trouble, and finally wins a home and happiness.

Wallace Berry and Gloria Hope give excellent support to the young actor, and the production is five reels of trouble and happiness with happiness on the top in the end.

DEATH OF MRS. SADIE RIGGS

Kent of the Methodist church was in charge of the service.

Mrs. Riggs was thirty years of age, and leaves beside her husband, an eight-year old boy by a former marriage, and her mother, Mrs. Miles.

SOCIETY

ROMAN BANQUET AT CLUB CENTRE—

A Roman Banquet complete in every detail was given last Tuesday evening at the Club Centre as the closing event of the year's work of the Study Section of the Upland Woman's Club.

The Study Section has taken as its subject this year "Italy" and a banquet given in the old Roman fashion was considered a very appropriate manner in which to close the season's program.

Mrs. Lana Conger of the Chaffey faculty was the guest of honor, and also master of ceremonies, and was attended by four slave maidens who were dressed in Greek garb. All the guests and the "Mistress of the House" Mrs. H. W. Hawkinson wore the conventional Roman costume and sat on cushions round the banquet tables eating the meal from their fingers and acting like perfect Roman matrons and maids of two thousand years ago.

During the banquet the four slave girls, Ruth Bonillas, Eleanor Youngstrom, Helen Goodrich and Eudora Fredendall, entertained the guests with songs and dancing. "There's a long, long trail a-windin'" translated into Latin by Mrs. Conger was sung to the delight of the guests, and a remarkably pretty Grecian dance was given between courses. "When Pompey was a boy" was sung by Eudora Fredendall, and the entertainment rivalled that of many a Roman affair of earlier date.

At the end of the feast which began with stuffed eggs and included oysters, chicken, figs, cherries, nuts and small Italian cakes, the punch bowl was brought in, and libations qualified to Juno and the household gods.

The evening was a perfect success and as a pleasant reminder of a charming evening, the guests will all have photographs taken at the close of the party by "Swannie."

MRS. ROGERS HOSTESS TUESDAY EVENING—

Mrs. Francis Rogers assisted by Miss Lucile Joss of Ontario, delightfully entertained last Tuesday evening at her new home on Euclid Avenue in honor of Miss Esther Hibbs of Ontario who is to be a summer bride.

A miscellaneous shower was given Miss Hibbs, by the guests, all members of the Six Twenty Three Club, and the evening passed in varied amusements. Refreshments were served to some twenty guests at the end of a jolly time.

Radio Concert for Saturday Evening

The Commercial National Bank, Los Angeles Times Agent E. P. Fuller, Clyde J. Bryant of the Pacific Coast Radio Corporation and the Upland News have joined forces to give the people of Upland their first radio concert.

The date is Saturday (tomorrow) night and the concert will come from the roof of the Commercial National Bank through instruments provided by Mr. Bryant of the Pacific Coast Radio Corporation, so when you come down town Saturday night you are likely to hear much music in the air for Times Agent, E. P. Fuller has arranged with the radio department of the Los Angeles Times to broadcast not only a few musical numbers but some dance numbers as well. If there is room enough those who desire may have an opportunity to dance to music traveling forty miles through the air and picked up by a receiving set with attachments that amplify to such an extent that you can hear very plainly whatever is being broadcasted from the Times station.

Hamburger's broadcasting station will probably add to the program as well and all told it should be a most interesting evening.

For some time the Commercial National Bank has been planning on installing one of the most modern radio receiving sets made, and Mr. Bryant, not only wants to prove the worth of his instruments, but to give people generally the experience of hearing a radio outfit that can be heard for six blocks and which is delivering that which has been broadcasted forty miles distant.

Kipling's King Pilgrimage

ALWAYS, a new poem by Rudyard Kipling is of general interest and "The King's Pilgrimage" is no exception to rule. While the poem is not so inspiring as "The Recessional," for instance, it is, nevertheless, a notable production, with the Kipling characteristics indisputably pertaining. Owing to the copyright Saturday Night is inhibited from reproducing it, but we may be permitted to indicate the argument: The poet, in the entourage of King George and Queen Mary of England, the king and queen of Belgium, visited the graves of the allies' war-heroes on the western front, the British king placing a wreath on the spot where Edith Cavell was executed. The poem describes the journey thither and what the king saw, after quitting the "Clean swept ocean" which "lay free to every keel." Written in irregular verse one stanza tells that "the first land he found it was shoal and banky ground," which commemorates the gallantry of the naval heroes on a never-to-be forgotten occasion. "And the next land he found, it was low and hollow ground," where once the cities stood that were levelled by the guns of the huns. "And the next land he found, it was bare and hilly ground," where husbandry once flourished, fields were fertile and water sweet and pure. "And the last land he found, it was fair and level ground," where five thousand of the best blood of the British gave their lives. And all about a carved stone were grasses and living trees and flowers of the spring. The concluding lines convey a disturbing thought: All that they had they gave—they gave In sure and single faith; There can no knowledge reach the grave To make them grudge their death, Save only if they understood That, after all was done, We they redeemed denied their blood And mocked the gains it won.

Kipling gave a son to the world-war, who did not return. He feels, as do many other parents, that the sacrifices made by glorious youth have not been appreciated at their true worth by the respective countries to which "they gave—they gave—in sure and simple faith." Do they know—over there? Who can say?—Los Angeles Saturday Night.

Make Them Worth Something

THE BAD old ways die hard. In the last year for which complete figures are available, there were discharged from the prisons of the United States just a few less than half a million persons. Since ours is a business nation, it is well for us to stop and cast up the profit and loss of this method of punishment. Having done penance and had time to absorb higher ideals, what were these half million worth to the civic body they re-entered?

A man in jail has written us these words: "Next me is a half-wit boy, committed for assault. His stupid face peers and blinks at the daylight through the dirty panes of the high, small window. A full sentence in jail isn't in any way calculated to salvage anything of that youth's immortal soul. What he needs is a plow, a strong team, and sun and wind, and cessation of companions as foul-minded as himself, with steel bars thrown in for good measure."

Right! We will back the plow and the strong team against all the steel bars that were ever forged. The plow and the team are the modern way; fortunately, State after State is finding out about them. Half a million men graduated from stiff courses in road making and farming are a national asset. Half a million spewed out of mental and moral filth of jails are a national liability of the worst sort.

This is a business nation. It will not forever tolerate the bad old ways.—Collier's Weekly.

PROSPERITY GROWING

JAMES A. FARRELL, president of the United States Steel Corporation, makes this prediction: "Within two or three years this country will need every ship now out of activity in our domestic and foreign trade and we shall have cargoes for all ships now idle and need still more ships." One of the qualifications that has placed Mr. Farrell at the head of the United States Steel is his capacity to make accurate predictions of business futures. There is every indication now of the steady growth of the American merchant marine and of our foreign trade. If our present rate of progress continues, Mr. Farrell's optimistic prophecy is certain of fulfillment.—Redlands Facts.

THE MORSE SMOKE SCREEN

THE FAVORITE tactics of malefactors under indictment is to attack the motives of the prosecution. This is being illustrated anew in the case of Morse, the shipbuilder accused of putting some fancy jobs over on the government during the world war, with the assistance of sundry Democratic politicians of rominece who do not contemplate with equanimity the prospects of publicity they may get out of the approaching trials. This accounts for some recent attacks on Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty. If Mr. Daugherty were permitting the Morse crowd and other favorites of the last administration who sandbagged the country during the war, to escape without prosecution, he would be a good fellow. But now that he is moving the machinery of the law toward the ends of justice in these cases Democrats of national prominence are trying to discredit the prosecution by personal attacks upon the Attorney General.

The government has not had in many years a more competent, conscientious and at the same time just and reasonable Attorney General than Mr. Daugherty. He is the trusted friend and adviser of President Harding because of qualities which intimacy of the two men long ago revealed to the chief executive. It will take something more than a smoke screen raised by the friends of politicians and profiteers with a present poor opinion of the law, to blacken the name of Attorney General Daugherty. On the contrary those who are carrying on this warfare are likely to have reason to regret it before they get through; for Mr. Daugherty has a commendable habit of "hitting back" at those who deal with him unfairly.—National Republican.

THE "CHILD CRUSADERS"

PRESIDENT HARDING has estimated correctly the carefully advertised "Children's Crusade" that has reached Washington, and whose manipulations have announced that it will be turned into a "Picket Crusade" in front of the White House. There was, and will be nothing spontaneous about this radical-led "drive" for the liberation of wartime, not "political," prisoners still in federal jails.

This was carefully organized "stunt" of the professional radical and perennial agitator. It has been aided and abetted by their sympathizers and helped along by the familiar pish posh that always may be relied upon to well up in the breasts of sentimental and misguided souls.

Had the move had anything genuine about it, had it been a "children's crusade" in fact as in name, they would have had a kindly and sympathetic hearing, for the President is the most kindly and sympathetic of men. He knows, however, whose hands led the children to Washington and why they were led. They were brought to the White House by the wrong people, dragged there to make a radical holiday.

VALENCIA ORANGE SHOW

HOLDING f a Valencia orange show at Anaheim last week brings to public attention the phenomenal growth and development of the Valencia orange industry in Southern California, and it serves as well to call attention to "the mother colony," where the valencia finds a most congenial habitat.

The first oranges planted in California were seedlings, the planting later being of a few budded varieties brought from Florida. Then came the introduction of the Washington navel in the early '70s from Bahia, Brazil, in Riverside, and the spread of the navel to every orange growing district in the state. It was declared the supreme orange, and it is today without a rival in the world. But the navel orange season ends in April and May and from then until the new navel crop comes in at Christmas time the markets are practically bare of California oranges.

The valencia was introduced into California from Florida under the name of Hart's Late Tardiff, but it failed to secure more than a passing popularity until C. C. Chapman entered upon its growing on a large scale. Mr. Chapman was a Chicago printer before coming to California and made and lost a fortune during the Chicago world's fair. He located at Placentia and began to grow oranges and walnuts in a small way. On studying the market he decided that there was a real demand in the east for oranges ripening when navels are out of the market and then began large and systematic planting of the orange now known as the valencia, and which originated in the province of Valencia, in Spain. These he packed under the Old Mission brand, and although valencia culture has spread the Old Mission brand still persistently tops the eastern markets and the prices received have been the inspiration that had led to widespread valencia planting in Orange county. To the disinterested observer it would appear that the valencia planting in our neighboring and adjacent county had reached a near-mania stage. In many sections of the county splendid old walnut groves—many of them of choice budded varieties—have been rooted out to make room for new valencia planting.

YUCCAS IN DANGER OF EXTERMINATION

Yucca plucking on the hillsides of Southern California is reaching serious proportions when police officers of the entire west are asked to take a hand in the matter.

A movement has been started by officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California to secure the co-operation of various boards of supervisors in the southern counties in preserving the yuccas for the delight of eastern motorists.

Yucca blooms but once in five or ten years, and then only in certain sections of Mexico and in Southern California.

At the rate it is being picked and cut by motoring parties there will soon be no yucca at all in this section of the continent, says the Auto Club, and therefore definite action must be taken in the matter at once, it is pointed out.

Every yucca plant that is pulled up and carted home by a motorist destroys just about 100 future yucca plants, explain botanists, and at the present rate all yuccas will be destroyed within two years.

In a letter to the supervisors, the Automobile Club points out that motorcycle police officers should be instructed to stop all auto parties carrying yucca which they have cut from the hills, and say to them that they are depriving the state of one of its greatest natural wonders.

It is a patriotic move to preserve the giant white blossoms for future generations, but action must be immediate, say the authorities. It is further pointed out that the yucca wilts and shrivels up as soon as it is picked, and cannot be kept in a residence because of the hosts of ants it attracts, therefore it is better left on the hills.

They have found singing fish in the ocean. Probably the result of pouring booze overboard.

In Georgia the wind picked up a load of corn and carried it to town. May have been a trade wind.

COW TESTING AS'N IN MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

Ending the first two days' work of a campaign to increase the rolls of the San Bernardino County Cow Testing Association by 800 animals or more, H. J. Wilder, farm advisor; A. M. Kipt, executive secretary of the farm bureau; E. J. Campbell, assistant farm advisor, and W. W. Coke of Chaffey Junior Agricultural College, increased the lists by more than 80 per cent, or by the addition of 223 animals. This was made in a canvass on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Last week the association had 300 cows registered for the monthly tests, extending over a period of one year. With the increase the membership now numbers 523, and should be, according to Kipt, 1500 to 2000, with the more than 4500 animals in the county.

New registrations in the first two days were in Chino, Ontario and Redlands, with another herd of 40 cows as prospects yet to be closed in Redlands.

"Membership in the association," Mr. Kipt said, "is merely a question of business efficiency. It gets down on a straight dollar and cent basis in returns to the dairymen, and we ask that those who wish, call at once and register with the association, in the offices of the Farm Bureau on Court street.

Show Profit

"Putting it in figures, it is thus: A cow that gives 400 pounds of butterfat a year will show the owner a profit of $102, with butterfat at 80 cents a pound, after overhead is deducted.

"A cow that gives 300 pounds of butterfat will show a profit for the year, on the same basis, of but $22, and a 250-pound cow will create a loss of $14.

"Thus, with exactly the same overhead, labor and other expenses for the three animals, the entire profit from the three is but $110, and of this the 400-pound cow yields $102 to the owner.

"If all three cows were in the 400-pound class, the combined profit would be $306, or a potential loss of $196 on the two cows that are giving below the required amount.

"And this is not an isolated case. Without the cow testing associations, a dairymen would be likened to the employer who hires 40 or 50 men and turns them loose with no supervision. Some work, some loaf, but he pays them all on the same basis.

Assure Gain

"Another thing: In addition to the weeding out of boarding cattle to his profit, the dairymen, by cutting down to the producers, or building up his herd to the greatest efficiency, can assure himself of a heavy profit in calves.

"From a poor producer, a calf, when born, is a loss, worth about $6. From a well-known and registered producer, the calf is worth $20, as soon as born. Again, the dairymen can reasonably assure himself of an increased value of at least $25 on each heavy producing cow.

"The tests are made on a yearly basis, not by the month. Thus the owner has a test over a period that proves value and weeds out the non-producers."

Los Angeles County has been remarkably successful in its testing associations, according to the records of the Farm Bureau.

At the start, four years ago, but one tester was employed. Three are now in the field. The association has 47 member herds, including more than 4300 cows, an increase over four year period from 900 head.

In the beginning, the average production was 28.5 pounds of butterfat a month. Now it is one-third greater, which means that now, by advanced methods, the cows are producing $400,000 more a year than at the start.

In last April 1183 cows in the Los Angeles County Association exceeded 40 pounds of fat, 207 made more than 60 pounds, and four more than 100 pounds.

"It is merely a matter of dollars and cents to the dairymen," Mr. Walder said, repeating Mr. Kipt's statement. "Under present conditions of cost, rule of thumb methods are going to show a loss. There is no other way, by and large.

"With the exact data, profit is inevitable, for then the dairymen will be in a position to coherently weed out the non-producers and the average producers.

"The average dairy cow in the United States does not produce enough fat to pay for her feed, under present conditions."

EMBARGO PROPOSED ON COTTONSEED SHIPMENTS

The California State Department of Agriculture has taken under advisement requests made by cotton growers of the Palo Verde and Imperial valleys in Southern California that an absolute embargo on cotton seed shipments other than those used for milling purposes from Arizona into California be made, and that no cotton seed shipments for any purpose be permitted in cotton growing districts in California.

The petitions were presented during a conference on cotton quarantine problems called by G. H. Hecke, Director of the State Department of Agriculture in which representatives from several western states, members of the Federal Horticultural Board, county horticultural commissioners and others participated. At the conclusion of the hearing Mr. Hecke announced that a conference of state representatives and cotton growers would be held in Riverside shortly at which time a decision would be reached.

A. W. Morrill of Los Angeles, who presented the request, declared southern cotton growers were menaced by Thurberia cotton boll weevil from the Arizona districts. A similar request was presented several months ago.

Lee A. Strong, Chief of the Bureau of Plant Quarantine, declared postponement of the decision would not endanger Southern growers since no permits for movement of cotton seed into the state were being issued except for milling purposes and that only one shipment for this purpose had been permitted since January 1.

Mr. Hecke, who opened the meeting, declared the State Department of Agriculture was willing to entertain the request, and that the matter would finally be adjusted to the satisfaction of all concerned.

In the meantime, Mr. Hecke stated a survey of the situation in the south will be conducted by members of the department.

The following were among those present: G. H. Hecke, Director of the California Department of Agriculture, C. L. Marshall, Chairman of the Federal Board of Horticulture, F. W. Waite, Horticultural Commissioner of Imperial County, Don C. Mote, Entomologist of Arizona, C. L. Kellerman, member of the Federal Horticultural Board, George E. Sudworth, United States Forestry Service, A. H. Call, Horticultural Commissioner of Ventura County, E. E. Kaufman, U. S. Agricultural Statistician, R. E. Hodges, Pacific Rural Press, R. E. ORANGE JUICE USED BY SCOUTS TO EXTINGUISH FIRE

Section hands of the Southern Pacific system were responsible for a serious fire in San Dimas Wednesday afternoon that threatened to destroy three valuable ranches as it raged through San Dimas Canyon.

Hundreds of men and two Boy Scout troops rushed to the W. A. Johnstone and McComas ranches where the fire was beyond control. Forming a bucket brigade, the scouts with the aid of a large number of men carried orange juice from the waste stream of a nearby factory to check the flames.

More than five hundred new smudge pots, valuable orange and eucalyptus trees and other property was damaged to the extent of almost $4,000 by the flames.

According to the laborers who were clearing the right-of-way of dead grass and brush, a high wind carried embers onto the Graves' ranch which rapidly spread until it reached the huge pile of smudge pots owned by Mr. Johnstone.

As the flames spread, a huge column of black smoke settled over the community which increased in volume as the flames ate into the eucalyptus trees and oil soaked smudge pots.

It was said that the work of the Boy Scouts in checking the fire saved thousands of dollars to the ranch owners of the community. They rushed to the scene in a body shortly after the alarm was sounded. Those who witnessed their efforts were loud in the praise of their organization.

O. T. C. JUNIORS GIVE BREAKFAST PARTY

The Juniors of the O. T. C. Club were hostesses last Saturday morning at the home of their leader, Mrs. H. W. Hawkinson on west Tenth street, at a 7:30 breakfast in honor of the Seniors. Eighteen members were present and delicious waffles were the chief eatable on the menu.

After breakfast a clever skit on the future of the Seniors was given by the Juniors, which caused much amusement, as they predicted various ways in which the Seniors would spend their adult years. The Seniors turned the tables by "taking off" the Juniors and foretelling curious events to happen in the near future.

The jolly party ended with the general singing of "Should Auld Acquaintance Be Forgot."

GRADUATION PARTY AT BRYANT HOME

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Bryant were hosts on Tuesday evening at a graduation party, given in honor of their son Clyde who has completed the grammar school course of study, graduating today from the Upland school.

For the longest list of words made from the letters contained in the name "Bryant" Marian Hall and Alice Riley won the prizes for the girls and Veri Dinger and Harold Mock were awarded the honors for the boys. Thirty-four words were made from the name within the given time of 15 minutes. For guessing the absolutely correct number of pebbles in a glass jar, prizes were given to Ida Vernon and Culver Smallwood.

After a very jolly evening of various amusements, the guests were ushered onto the veranda gaily decorated with Japanese lanterns and plants, where delicious refreshments were served.

The guests numbered thirty-five and were chiefly fellow-graduates of the Eighth grade. Those invited were Ruth Coe, Katharine Harwood, Marian Hall, Theodore Stamm, Gladys Peterson, Randall Bryden, Alice Riley, Dorothy Hood, Donald Lane, Ida Vernon, Paul Harwood, Elizabeth Boulton, Mary Marshall, Robert Stone, Earl Bryden, Richard Everetts, Edith Palis, Helen Playgens, Ruby Underwood, Lola Nafel, Kenneth Goodban, Culver Smallwood, Rolland Lemon, Emery Jacobs, Arvilla Steiner, Dorothy Bells, Harland Goodrich, Katherine Church, Gladys Hood, Lacey Handley, William Bowden, Kathleen Turner, Veri Dinger, Harold Mock, Clyde Bryant.

Each day as dinner time approached Cashier H. S. Wilson sat at his desk and read that big sign on the Ruedy block opposite the bank which in loud and long letters stated, "Save Food, etc." It was a good sign during the world war days, but there is no object in saving food when there is some going to waste, so at each meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Wilson asked that the sign be removed. To-day another slogan there reads, "Upland, the Home of Sunkist Oranges and Lemons."

Tony Morgetchio died Sunday afternoon at the home of his parents on the Shepherd ranch and was buried Monday from Draper's Ontario parlors under the auspices of the Roman Catholic Church. He was well known and well liked in the community, very bright in school and good in athletics, in which he always took a lively interest. He had been ill for nearly a year and his friends feared tuberculosis, but his death Saturday was the direct result of some spinal trouble which lasted only a few days.

a short time, lost a baby daughter at San Antonio Hospital Friday. The child was born the previous Wednesday. Everyone sympathizes with them in their sorrow.

During the brief business session the following class officers were elected: Gertrude, president; Marjorie Frost, vice-president; Irene Scott, secretary and Winifred Hickox, treasurer.

Smith. All of the boys were present except Arthur Dugdale, who telephoned regrets. Chester Frost was chosen as president and Clyde Greenlee as secretary of the class.

A pre-convention rally was held at Bloomington Sunday afternoon. Mr. Frank Cour and Rev. C. W. Greenlee drove over and took those who wished to attend. Lester Burbank, Mrs. Lillian Cour, Mrs. Mamie Cour,

There is no mystery about good oil

It must be made from crudes carefully selected for their "oiliness" and stability. These crudes must be refined to preserve their original characteristics and to make them pure.

In selecting crudes for Zerolene the Standard Oil Company has the advantage of its own large production of practically every type of crude. The company is not compelled to use any particular crude because it happens to be the only one available.

Crudes selected for Zerolene are brought to our refineries in special pipe lines. They are refined by our own patented, high-vacuum process which preserves their "oiliness" and stability.

No other refiner on the Pacific Coast uses any form of vacuum distillation. No other refiner in the United States uses as high a vacuum as this company.

Purity Essential

Zerolene oils are pure. This company has always considered the removal of all detrimental properties and compounds as essential in making Zerolene.

Because of their "oiliness," stability and purity, Zerolene oils give perfect lubrication, and permit the development of the maximum power, speed and gasoline mileage of the car.

IMAGINATION and VISION

The story teller's fancy created Hop-o'-My-Thumb and the seven-league boots—the step of twenty-one miles was the limit of his imagination.

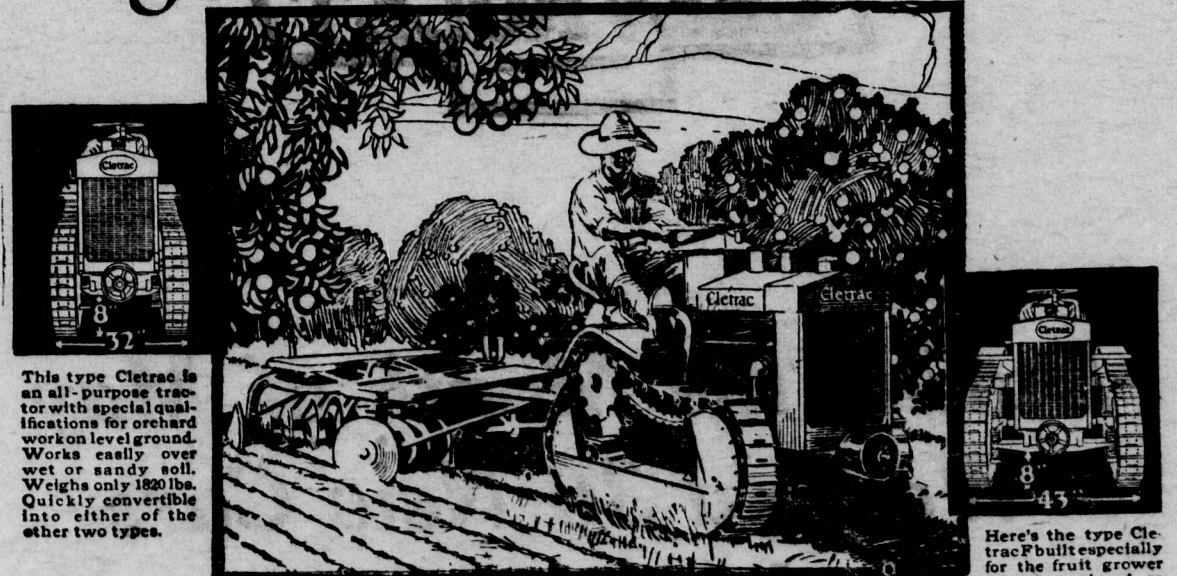

Accomplishment as wonderful as the imagery of the fairy tale has followed the vision of Alexander Graham Bell—the instantaneous transmission of the human voice a few feet or thousands of miles.

The seven-league boots exist only in the minds of "the little folks." Over 33,000,000 conversations a day in the United States testify to the value and importance of the telephone in the elimination of distance in the social and business activities of a nation.

There's nothing like Cletrac F for the Citrus Grower

Here's the type Cletrac F built especially for the fruit grower whose orchard or vineyard is on hilly or rough ground. This type can be quickly changed to either of the others.

THE New Cletrac Model F is the type of tractor citrus fruit growers have been waiting years for someone to build! Here it is—at a price several hundred dollars below the price even we had hoped for.

In plowing and cultivating, Cletrac F works as close to the trees as mules—leaves no patches uncultivated—has no lugs to catch low hanging branches. As for ease of operation, here's a tractor that turns in less space than a team, right from one row into the next—that is automatically lubricated—no oil or grease cups.

No matter what power you are using—or what power you have under consideration—we can prove that Cletrac F is unusually economical on fuel—that it will last longer because of its tough chrome steel construction—that the great number of jobs it will handle is way out of proportion to its cost.

ETIWANDA

Pauline and Edna Tilden, Bessie Troyer and Ethel Bilyeu.

Those who attended church Sunday morning expecting to hear Miss Sarah Bundy of Los Angeles speak were disappointed as she was unable to be present having lost her mother earlier in the week. She will come out at some later date.

On Monday evening the boys of the young men's class of the Ontario Christian Church played baseball with the boys of Mrs. C. W. Greenlee's class on the Etiwanda school grounds. The game started too late in the evening to play to the finish but was quite exciting while it lasted. All of the players had supper together at the parsonage before the visitors went home.

Mr. Walter Pietz, a graduate of our grammar grades was one of the players from Ontario Monday evening. He told us that since he graduated from Chaffey he has been employed by an Ontario dairy. His father, who was manager of the packing house here for some time is now living with the rest of the family at Wastene, Oregon.

Rev. and Mrs. Wright of Ontario came over Monday evening and watched the ball game between their young men and the Etiwanda boys. They were guests at supper of the Friendly class who held their monthly supper and business meeting that evening. The supper was late and the attendance was not as large as usual, but several came in later for the business session.

Miss Rebecca Crawford of North Pomona, who has taught the Primary Grades of the Etiwanda school for the past three years has resigned her work and left our board looking for another teacher. Mrs. Peters, of Upland, who came in during last year to fill a vacancy in our Intermediate grades will join her husband in Arizona and does not consider coming back. Mrs. Rena B. Francis who for two years has made a most excellent Principal is planning to remain for at least one more year. Our teaching force during the past year has been unusually good and we hope the Board will be able to do as well for the pupils during the coming school year.

Mrs. J. D. Orndorff celebrated her birthday Sunday with a family dinner. Mr. and Mrs. McKeag drove over from Los Angeles bringing Mrs. Rosetta Rupp with them and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McKee came over from Alta Loma for the day.

Edward Francis spent Saturday in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Geo. Utman entertained Mr. and Mrs. Cummings and daughter Lois of Pomona Saturday afternoon.

A large number of Etiwanda people attended one or other of the performances of King Lear at Chaffey last week. Curtis Smith took part in the play as Edgar.

Misses Ruth Brownlee and Evelyn Koch recently elected members of the Chaffey Eschscholtzia Club went over for the banquet Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Donnelly and sons and Mrs. F. E. Rader and son motored to Fairmont Park after church Sunday and had a picnic dinner.

Miss Irene Scott and her cousin Morris Frost are planning to leave soon after the close of school for Creston, Nebraska, to visit relatives. They will accompany Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Morris of Ontario, their grandparents and will be gone for some time.

Miss Ruth Gebhart of Los Angeles and Miss Rose Spolm of Mansfield, Ohio, spent the week end with the E. T. Meyers family. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Myers and son Arthur took their guests to Camp Cajon for a picnic dinner.

Everyone is invited to the Children's Day program to be given Sunday morning at 10:30 at the Etiwanda church. Mr. F. F. Roe is in charge of the program this year and has been training the children for some time.

Miss Helen Burbank is spending this week at the home of Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Greenlee following an operation Monday for the removal of her tonsils.

Mrs. Wm. Troyer who has been sick for several weeks is still unable to be out. She had a severe case of flu.

Mrs. C. C. Brownless has been sick for the past ten days but is sitting up and her friends hope will soon be out.

Mrs. Herbert Price injured her back a few days ago and her small daughter, Janellyn, is spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Price.

Donald Greenlee has had more than his share of trouble during the past few days. On Thursday during a ball game he collided with another boy and dislocated and broke one of his fingers. On Monday he was hurt when one of the big boys with spiked shoes stepped on his foot, tearing the flesh and causing a most painful injury.

Walter Price is recovering from an injured arm received practicing baseball at Chaffey last week.

A number of Etiwanda people went to Fontana Day celebration on Wednesday. The ball game between Fontana and Etiwanda teams resulted in a score of 3 to 0 in favor of the former.

Coke Boosts Dairying

The close alliance between the dairy and citrus industries and the importance of interesting young men of brains and ability to turn their attention to dairying, were the principal points emphasized Wednesday afternoon by W. W. Coke, prominent Ontario dairy rancher, in his second talk before the members of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce at their weekly Forum luncheon at the Hotpoint Club.

Mr. Coke pointed out that while the soil in this vicinity is good, it is of such quality that unless proper attention be given to fertilization, it will in time become barren, and in this connection he called attention to the importance of affiliation between the dairy and citrus industries.

The chief cause of failure among dairymen, the speaker held to be overwork and a resultant lack of thinking in the business. He expressed the belief that brains and the ability to use them were as necessary in dairying as in any other business and urged the importance of interesting young men of intelligence to take it up as their life work. In this connection, he announced tentative plans for the staging of a Dairy Day in Ontario in the near future, when there will be demonstration and efforts better to acquaint the public with the workings of the industry.

Mr. Coke reiterated his former statement that 30 square miles of land in the immediate vicinity of Ontario are ideally and eminently suited to dairying, not the least important factor being its close proximity to Los Angeles and the resultant demand for market milk. While there are something less than 100 cows in this vicinity at present, there should be 10,000 he declared and in closing asserted that it is possible to increase the income of the Ontario section five times through the dairy industry.

William Laidlaw presided as chairman of the Forum meeting and S. P. Brackenridge, baritone, added to the pleasure of the meeting with vocal numbers.

Club Visits Museum

Members of the Current Events Club to the number of nearly 50 celebrated the closing of their season in unique fashion Tuesday afternoon when they motored to the Southwest Museum, Los Angeles, for a picnic luncheon and tour of the interesting institution.

Luncheon was served on a broad canopy veranda of the museum, which stands on a bluff overlooking Sycamore Grove Park and members of the losing team in the recent membership contest were the hostesses of the occasion. Much credit for the success of the luncheon is due Mrs. A. E. Pierce, chairman of the committee in charge.

At the close of the luncheon, Mrs. Geoffrey Fleming, President of the club, introduced Mrs. Frances K. Handley, educational secretary of the museum, who addressed the gathering on its educational features.

Dr. John A. Comstock, director, at whose invitation the club women visited the institution, then led the party through the museum, the while delivering an intensely interesting discourse on its many exhibits. Fifty-four clubs have visited the museum during the past year, but it remained for Ontario to send the largest delegation.

Headed Combination

The combination of Ontario and June 7th, bode no good for B. L. Harding. Fifteen years ago in June, 1907, Mr. Harding landed in Ontario and learned later that at the very hour of his arrival his only brother had met a violent death in Gary, Ind.

Wednesday, Mr. Harding came back for his first return visit and had been here but a few minutes when the stern arm of the law in the person of Lieut. Arthur Axley placed a hand on his shoulder and he found himself under arrest for soliciting the sale of pictures without a city license so to do. Harding pleaded guilty in Judge George Holbrook's court and drew a fine of $5.00, paying $4.00 and promising to forward the remainder when he got back to Los Angeles.

Incidentally, Harding declared that his father died on the hoodoo date and that it was the birthday anniversary of his mother, who is 94 years of age.

Final Meeting

Mrs. William Laidlaw was hostess Wednesday afternoon at Kia Ora, her attractive ranch home in West A street, to the members of the Nard Community Circle in their final meeting of the season.

A travelogue on Mexico by Miss Spaulding of Pomona was an interesting feature of the afternoon and a delightful musical program was contributed to by Mrs. William Kuhnley and Mrs. Albert Percival Davis.

DECIDUOUS GROWERS URGED TO THIN FRUIT

In most districts of Southern California the peach and apricot crop, particularly the peach crop, is unusually heavy, according to reports assembled by S. W. Cunningham, secretary of the Southern California Canners Bureau, on his return from a field trip through the deciduous areas of the southern part of the state.

"It is of the utmost importance," says Mr. Cunningham, "for the deciduous growers to do a good job of thinning this season in order to produce a salable quality of fruit."

Concerning the outlook for the canning industry this coming season as related to the necessity for high quality fruit, Mr. Cunningham made the following statement:

"The 1921 pack of fruits made in California has been practically all sold and a large part of it went for export shipment. It must be remembered in this connection, however, that the 1921 pack of fruits in California was 3,000,000 cases less than the pack of 1920 and over 5,000,000 cases less than the pack of 1919 and furthermore, there was a very short crop fruits and berries and apples through the Middle West and Eastern sections of the United States in 1921, which had a material effect on the California market in the way of increased buying on account of the Eastern shortage.

"Last year Southern California canners packed approximately 1,700,000 cases of apricots and peaches and present indications are that the pack this year will be increased nearly a million cases. Recent surveys have developed the fact that there is sufficient fruit in Southern California to make this pack. It is considered highly important by the canners of Southern California that the highest possible quality of canned fruits be produced this year in order that the products will move easily into consumption and clear the way for the next year's pack.

"A recent rather extensive survey of the fruit growing sections of Southern California has shown that growers are not thinning peaches in a way that will produce good size, in other words, they are leaving altogether too many peaches on trees in most sections, and this means that the fruit will be small."

The Canners Bureau is co-operating with the Agricultural Extension Service and the County Farm Bureau in a campaign to induce growers to thin their crops properly. During the past two weeks a series of some twelve or fifteen field meetings have been held in the principal deciduous districts at which special attention was given to the matter of thinning. At a recent meeting of the Canners Bureau a resolution was unanimously passed setting the minimum size for canning peaches at 2 1/4 inches or larger, and for apricots not to run over 16 to the pound. In order to reach this size in many districts it will be absolutely necessary for the growers to remove at least half of the present set of fruit.
